Economic and Market Review

Market performance overview

As of March 31, 2021

- The post-COVID reflation theme was in full bloom during the first quarter, as markets anticipated economic reopenings and additional rounds of massive U.S. fiscal easing. Bond yields rose in response, and the U.S. dollar staged a turnaround from a weakening trend that had been in place since May of 2020.
- Equities continued to roll along, especially smaller U.S. companies, as the work-from-home and megacap dynamic gave up further ground to cyclical and “go-out” names. Non-U.S. stocks were positive but lagged on renewed COVID outbreaks and dollar strength.
- Rising growth and inflation expectations pushed Treasury yields sharply higher, causing another difficult stretch for high-quality and long-duration bonds. Riskier domestic credits managed to tread water, as spreads remained well behaved thanks to the favorable economic outlook. Dollar strength was an additional headwind to international and emerging bond returns. Stronger inflation expectations resulted in positive returns from inflation-linked bond despite higher real rates.
- Commodities overcame a stronger dollar to turn in another positive quarter, as the growth outlook buoyed expected demand. Energy led the way, and industrial metals also performed well as strong gains from aluminum and copper overcame softness in nickel and zinc prices. Precious metals struggled in the face of rising real interest rates. Agricultural commodities performed well overall, led by livestock, corn and soybean products.

U.S. equity market review

As of March 31, 2021

- U.S. equities turned in another solid quarter on growing optimism, thanks to vaccines and forceful fiscal stimulus plans.
- Small cap stocks began the year with a bang, outpacing large caps by double digits at certain points in February and March before drifting back towards the end of the quarter. Cyclical stocks did well, while highly speculative stocks finally took a breather.
- In large caps, value stocks continued to make up lost ground on growthier areas of the market, thanks to growing optimism and rising interest rates and inflation expectations.
- More cyclical and value-oriented sectors of the market outperformed by wide margins.

Fixed income review

As of March 31, 2021

- The move higher in Treasury yields accelerated during the first quarter thanks to improving vaccination rates and expectations for further fiscal support.
- The yield curve remained anchored at the short end, but it will be important for investors to see if faster growth or inflation move the Fed to tighten monetary policy sooner than it currently expects to.
- Thanks to the optimistic economic outlook, risk appetite held steady despite the sharp move higher in sovereign yields.
- Emerging market debt spreads were steady in the quarter and remained in line with long-term trends, while U.S. investment grade and high yield continued to narrow, remaining well below their 10-year averages.

Performance Review

- Results in the Growth Fund were mixed during the quarter. The environmental, social and governance screen (ESG) led to unfavorable underweights to tobacco stocks within consumer staples and to materials was mitigated by solid selection within real estate and information technology, particularly in software.

Positioning Review

- The Growth Fund employs a passive strategy designed to track the performance of the Russell 3000 Index, which represents the largest 3,000 U.S. companies and approximately 98% of the investable U.S. equity market, subject to such variation as may arise as a result of implementation of the social witness principles of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church (U.S.A.).

Strategy

- Parametric, the investment manager, begins with replication of the broad U.S. equity market, minus the prohibited names from the negative SRI screens. They then use their limited ability to deviate from the underlying market exposures to select stocks based upon their ESG ratings.

New Covenant Income Fund

As of March 31, 2021

Performance Review

- The Income Fund benefited from an overweight to corporates and solid selection in industrials.
- Other contributors included an overweight to non-agency mortgage-backed securities (MBS), which continued to rebound during the quarter; an overweight to asset-backed securities (ABS); and an overweight to higher-quality commercial MBS.
- An overweight to the long-term segment of the U.S. Treasury yield curve detracted as 30-year U.S. Treasury yields rose during the quarter.
- Poor selection within agency MBS hurt, especially in specified mortgage pools.
- Income Research & Management benefited from an overweight to corporates as spreads tightened during the quarter. An overweight to and selection in industrials helped, particularly in transportation and energy sub-sectors as growth prospects improved. An overweight to and strong selection in ABS and commercial MBS contributed as markets continued to gradually recover from last March's forced selling. Selection within agency MBS added; although an underweight to the sector pared gains. An underweight to non-corporates slightly detracted.
- Western Asset Management gained on an overweight to credit sectors (financials and industrials, especially the consumer non-cyclical and communications sub-sectors) as spreads tightened over the quarter. An allocation to non-agency MBS helped as the sector continued its gradual recovery. Overweights to ABS and commercial MBS further contributed. An overweight to the long-term segment of the U.S. Treasury yield curve hurt.

New Covenant Income Fund

As of March 31, 2021

Positioning Review

- Core U.S. investment-grade fixed income had a difficult quarter, but this was largely a correction in terms of valuations as fundamentals remained attractive. Fixed-income markets have signaled improved growth prospects on the tail of higher interest rates in addition to increased stimulus and infrastructure spending that should result in higher deficits and more U.S. Treasury issuance. Still, given the magnitude of the recent move in rates, we see any further moves higher as incremental.
- Inflation expectations are higher in the short term than in the long term. We share the Federal Reserve's sentiment that higher short-term inflation will likely be transitory. Securitized sectors remain attractive in our view, especially agency mortgage-backed securities.
- The Income Fund's duration positioning began the quarter slightly underweight the benchmark, but ended the period slightly overweight. Duration is a measure of risk in bond investing and indicates how price-sensitive a bond is to changes in interest rates. A long (overweight) duration stance indicates the portfolio duration is higher than that of the benchmark whereas a short (underweight) duration stance indicates a lower duration. Duration is measured in years and securities with longer durations are more sensitive to interest-rate changes. With yields near historic lows, the Fund's managers are likely to stay close to neutral until volatility subsides.
- It was overweight corporate bonds as managers viewed them as a better relative value despite higher prices than last year.
- Within the long-term overweight to securitized sectors, commercial MBS and ABS were the largest allocations while the agency MBS allocation was close to that of the benchmark.
- An overweight to off-benchmark non-agency MBS remained as the sector continued to trade at attractive spreads.

There are risks involved with investing, including loss of principal. Current and future portfolio holdings are subject to risks as well. International investments may involve risk of capital loss from unfavorable fluctuation in currency values, from differences in generally accepted accounting principles or from economic or political instability in other nations. Emerging markets involve heightened risks related to the same factors as well as increased volatility and lower trading volume. Narrowly focused investments and smaller companies typically exhibit higher volatility. Bonds and bond funds will decrease in value as interest rates rise. High-yield bonds involve greater risks of default or downgrade and are more volatile than investment-grade securities, due to the speculative nature of their investments. The Funds’ social policy may cause it to make or avoid investments for social reasons when it may be disadvantageous to do so. The Growth Fund is subject to tracking error risk or the risk that the Fund's performance may vary substantially from the performance of the Index it tracks.

Not FDIC Insured      No Bank Guarantee      May Lose Value

Prior to 5/13/2019, the New Covenant Growth Fund’s investment approach was an “active” investment strategy where an Investment manager would buy and sell securities based on its own economic, financial and market analysis. On May 13, 2019, the Fund implemented a more “passive” investment strategy which seeks to track an index return along with a social screen and ESG tilt.

Important Information

The Standard & Poor's 500 Index (S&P 500) is an unmanaged, capitalization weighted index that measures the performance of 500 large-capitalization stocks representing all major industries.

The Russell 1000 Index includes 1000 of the largest U.S. equity securities based on market cap and current index membership; it is used to measure the activity of the U.S. large-cap equity market.

The Russell 1000 Growth Index measures the performance of those Russell 1000 companies with higher price/book ratios and higher forecasted growth values.

The Russell 1000 Value Index measures the performance of those Russell 1000 companies with lower price/book ratios and lower forecasted growth values.

The Russell 2000 Index includes 2,000 small-cap U.S. equity names and is used to measure the activity of the U.S. small-cap equity market.

The Russell 3000 Index measures the performance of the largest 3000 U.S. companies representing approximately 98% of the investable U.S. equity market.

The MSCI All Country World Index is a market-capitalization-weighted index composed of over 2,000 companies, and is representative of the market structure of 48 developed and emerging-market countries in North and South America, Europe, Africa, and the Pacific Rim. The index is calculated with net dividends reinvested in U.S. dollars.

The MSCI All Country World Index ex-US is an equity index that includes both emerging and developed world markets and is designed to provide a broad measure of stock performance throughout the world, with the exception of U.S.-based companies.

The MSCI Emerging + Frontier Markets (EFM) Index is a free float-adjusted market-capitalization weighted index that captures large- and mid-cap representation across 23 Emerging Markets (EM) countries and 24 Frontier Markets (FM) countries.

The Bloomberg Barclays Capital U.S. Intermediate Aggregate Bond Index is an unmanaged index of U.S. Bonds which include reinvestment of any earnings. It is widely used to measure the overall performance of the U.S. bond market. It is not possible to invest directly in an index.

The Bloomberg Barclays U.S. Aggregate Bond Index is a benchmark index composed of U.S. securities in Treasury, government-related, corporate, and securitized sectors. It includes securities that are of investment-grade quality or better, have at least 1 year to maturity, and have an outstanding par value of at least $250 million.

The Bloomberg Barclays Long Government/Credit Index measures the investment return of all medium and larger public issues of U.S. Treasury, agency, investment-grade corporate, and investment-grade international dollar-denominated bonds with maturities longer than 10 years. The average maturity is approximately 20 years.

The Bloomberg Barclays 1-5 Year US TIPS Index measures the performance of inflation-protected public obligations of the U.S. Treasury that have a remaining maturity of one to five years.

The ICE BofA High Yield Master II Constrained Index is a market-value-weighted index of all domestic and Yankee high-yield bonds, including deferred interest bonds and payment-in-kind securities. Its securities have maturities of one year or more and a credit rating lower than BBB-/Baa3 but are not in default.

JPMorgan EMBI Global Diversified Index tracks the performance of external debt instruments (including U.S.-dollar-denominated and other external-currency-denominated Brady bonds, loans, Eurobonds and local market instruments) in the emerging markets.

JPMorgan GBI-EM Global Diversified Index tracks the performance of debt instruments issued in domestic currencies by emerging market governments.

The Bloomberg Commodity Total Return Index is composed of futures contracts and reflects the returns on a fully collateralized investment in the Index. This combines the returns of the Index with the returns on cash collateral invested in 13-week (3-month) U.S. Treasury bills.

Duration is a measure of risk in bond investing and indicates how price sensitive a bond is to changes in interest rates. A higher duration value means that a bond's price is more sensitive to a change in the relevant interest rate.

Option-Adjusted Spreads estimate the difference in yield between a security or collection of securities and comparable Treasuries after removing the effects of any special features, such as provisions that allow an issuer to call a security before maturity.

Safety Assets are so called because they are generally of higher investment quality and often exhibit lower historic price and return volatility.

Assessing Your Investment Needs

- Your vision for mission influences your investment goals.

- Basic requirements for investments may include:

- Long term growth
- Income
- Preservation of principal
- Competitive investment results
- Reasonable fee structure

- Should your investments also reflect Presbyterian values and making an impact on the world in which you live?

Tangible Differences

- New Covenant Funds provide a broad spectrum of services that help build, grow, preserve and provide financial resources consistent with the principles of Christian stewardship.
- Presbyterian values guide our investment decisions.
- New Covenant Funds are no-load mutual funds and a socially-responsible fund family.

Appendix:

Socially Responsible Investing

Socially Responsible Investing

- Socially responsible investing is a way that investors can feel comfortable knowing that their financial decisions reflect their values and principles. New Covenant Funds were created by Presbyterians and incorporate Christian values.
- As a shareholder advocate our goal is to affect positive change in certain companies in which New Covenant Funds invests.
  - Proxy voting
  - Shareholder resolutions
  - Engaging in dialogue with management regarding issues and changes
- New Covenant Funds works with the Presbyterian Church (U.S.A.) Mission Responsibility Through Investing (MRTI) committee (www.pcusa.org/mrti), ecumenical groups, Interfaith Center for Corporate Responsibility, and environmental groups like CERES (Coalition on Environmentally Responsible Economies). The strength of voices pooled with those of other churches and advocacy groups is more likely to get management's attention.
- New Covenant Funds prohibits investments that are included on the MRTI list. Prohibiting investment as a means of “social witness” demonstrates a position by consciously choosing not to allocate capital to corporations dependent on sales volume of products mentioned.

New Covenant Funds

As investors in socially responsible mutual fund families, our clients have an opportunity to help bring about positive change in the companies in which we invest – reflecting the basic principles of our Presbyterian faith. Our goal is not only to invest in the companies that are within our target allocations, but to engage in dialogue with companies whose business practices may be in conflict with our faith-based guidelines to affect positive change.

New Covenant Funds' goal is to enable investors to address their long-term financial needs and goals in a manner consistent with their values and principles.

Weekly Market Update

03/27/2015 - The U.S. economy expanded in the fourth quarter, alongside more recent gains in employment and consumer prices. In the U.K., consumer prices remained flat and year-over-year inflation reached a historical low, while eurozone consumer confidence reflects sustained growth. SEI anticipates the North American and U.K. economies to maintain steady growth, while the eurozone is expected to make slow economic improvement.
